	+ Rebus story: Tiny Tim + Book: The enormous turnip
Monday morning circle	<ul style="list-style-type: none">- Tell the children that Kidzone Hugging Week starts this week and it is time to hug people we care about.- Give each child a big, gentle hug and encourage the children to give gentle hugs to each other. Discuss how we also show our love by treating each other kindly and gently. Remind them that not everyone likes to be hugged, and it is important to ask before you hug a friend.- Discuss additional ways to show caring, such as taking turns cheerfully, helping those who need our help, comforting friends who are upset and so on.
Arts	A hug for you + Materials: bulletin board paper, markers, child-safe scissors <ul style="list-style-type: none">- The children take turns lying down with just their head, shoulders and outstretched arms on the bulletin board paper. Trace an outline around each child.- Encourage the children to color in their facial features on the outline. Then give them scissors to cut around their outlines, except for the hands.- Cut around each's child outlined hands. On the arms, write "My hug is for you"
Language	Communicating without words <ul style="list-style-type: none">- Show the children how to give tiny hugs by hooking their own index finger around the index finger of another. Both children then gently squeeze their fingers for the tiny hug.- To quiet the group, give a tiny hug to a child and place your hugging finger across your mouth to signal the need to be quiet. Ask that child to give a tiny hug and then a quiet signal to three people within her reach. Each child who is hugged passes it to others until all are quiet.- Practice this a few times each day to remind the children of the procedure.
Maths	My hug is this big + Materials: yarn, scissors, masking tape, marker <ul style="list-style-type: none">- Each child takes a turn standing with his arms outstretched to the sides, as if about to give a hug. Use yarn to measure the child's hug from fingertip to fingertip. Cut the yarn and put a strip of masking tape at one end. Write the child's name on the masking tape. Repeat with all the children.- With the children, compare the lengths of yarn. Whose hug is longest? Shortest?
Cooking	Hugging Roll-'em- up + Materials: thin slices of ham, lettuce leaves, individual cups of ranch dressing <ul style="list-style-type: none">- Show the children how to place a meat slice on top of a lettuce leaf and then roll the two together to the lettuce (on the outside) is hugging the meat (on the inside).- Let each child repeat the process. Provide cups of ranch dressing to use as a dip.
